Weather is Excellent.
There was increased aerial activity.
The weather is warm and generally clear except for a haze which hindered visibility above low ground. One machine was an American observer at the gun emplaced a stream of bullets into a German plane which was observed descending rapidly as though in trouble behind our line.

Ten German machines crossed our line last night and fied around, apparently seeking out targets, but American arti-aircraft guns kept the enemy so high no explosives were dropped.

London, March 23.—A German officer operating in Finland and the Ukrain gave orders to the soldiers to take no prisoners but to hang all Red Guards as they are only bandits. A German newspaer reports George Ledebour, an independent socialist leader as declaring in the reichstag according to an Exchange telegraph from Amsterdam, Deputy Ledebour added "On the one hand we make peace with the Bolsheviki and on the other we hang them. This is the best way to stir up hatred that will last forever against everything German."

ing back very slowly and in decease order. In many places they are withdrawing voluntarily so as to maintain an unbroken front.

Behind the Lines.
The scene of activity behind the battle front baffled description, but everywhere there is the same well ordered organization and quiet confidence. The weather is wonderfully fine although visibility is handleapped by local mist.

Mory is on the northern battle front 15 miles below Arres. It is about four miles back of the line held by the British before the Germans began their offensive.

"Heavy fighting continued until a late hour last night on the whole battle front. During the afternoon powerful hostile attack delivered with great weight of infantry and artillery broke through our defense system west of St. Quentin. Our troops on this part of the battle front are falling back in good order across devastated areas to prepared positions further west."

Zone Broken.

For the first time in the war on the western front since the opposing armies established themselves in trench system the defensive zone has been broken through. In other great attacks the British, French and Germans have been able to bend back the line but not to strike through the zone of defense. Many military critics have reached the opinion that on account of the strength of the lines it would be no longer possible to man it strongly.

Counter Attacks.

Unless the British are able to restore the situation by counter attacks a withdrawal on wide front may be necessary with open field warfare, The point at which the British line has been broken is near the southern end of the German attacking front which extended from Arres to Lafere, 15 miles below St. Quentin. Below this sector is the breach are in the front where the line approaching nearest to Parls turns sharply to the East.

Washington. March 23.—In an effort to induce the people to cut down the volume of parcel post sent to troous in France, the postoffice department today issued a list of things which the soldiers are able to purchase at army canteens abroad. The list shows that the canteen prices are as low and sometimes lower than the prices in this country. The postoffice list includes the following: Biscuits, books, brushes, bullion, candies, candles, canned goods, holiday cards, chewing gum, chocolate, cigarettes, cigars, combs, dental creams, various soft drinks, flashlights, fruit, handkerchiefs, heaters, jams, knives, leather goods, malted milk, condensed milk, evaporated milk, mirrors, nuts, pencils, pipes, raxors, shoe polish, shoe laces, soap, sponges, tobacco, towels, and woolen gloves.

STRICT ENFORCEMENT OF LAWS PREDICTED

Madison, Wis., March 23.—A more thorough enforcement of the Sunday closing laws of the state is forecasted in an opinion rendered by Attorney General Haven to District Attorney Ralph Smith of Lincoln county on Wednesday.

For the first time it is laid down as one of the distinct duties of the district attorney to sign complaints, if no one else will, where he knows of violations of the Sunday closing law. Heretofore district attorneys have taken the position that they would prosecute cases for Sunday closing if someone made complaint. Attorney General Haven says that this position is untenable and that it is the duty of the district atorney to sign these complaints himself, if no one else will, if he has information that any law has been transgressed. St. John Paintings Have Been Added to Collection Owned by the Art League in This City.

Added to Collection Owned by the Art League in This City.
The two beautiful St. John pictures which have been recently added to the collection owned by the Art League, were ospecially admired by members of that organization at the regular meeting held Friday in the library. One thousand dollars is the valuation set upon them for insurance, and many times that amount is expressed in the rare delight with which the League view them.

A letter from J. Allen St. John accompanied the gift, giving a brief biography of his mother, Susan Healey St. John, who painted the pictures.
This city was her girlhood home for a number of years, and it was here she was married. Afterward she studied in Paris, and in many noted studies abroad. She was a celebrated portrait painter, having a studio in Chicago for a number of years, and painting the portraits of many of the wealthy people of Chicago. Later she removed to Boston, where she died about two years ago. A vote of thanks was given by the league to Allen St. John for the splendid gift of the pictures to the organization. Also the three small pictures painted by a French artist in the trenches, had been sultably framed and were on view for the first time for the league.
They were extremely interesting and their sontimital value will increase as time goes on.

Some interesting contributions on current topics in art were given under the direction of Miss Metella Calkins.
Mrs. Faust read a selection showing how the bronze horses of Venice had been dropped on the art treasures of Venice by the Germans with the deliberate intention of destroying them.

"Cherishing Art As a Patriotic Duty" was the subject of an article read by Mrs. Woods, which also embraced a plea for industrial schools.
A description of the statae of Frederick the Great, which now stands before the war college in Washington, was given by Mrs. Sovle, and information that the picture of Washington crossing the Delaware was painted by a German artist on the banks of the Phuseian spy system, and edgo, which contained over 100 stars, was given by Mrs. Woods. Some necessary business was transacted during the session before the program.

CHILDREN EXAMINED IN CHRISTIAN LAWS

Pupils of St. Paul's Lutheran Church Examined by Pastor Before Church Audience.

After a daily instruction since last October in the chief parts of Christian doctrine according to Dr. Martin Luther's catechism, twenty-six catechumens of St. Paul's Lutheran mond of Evansville. The amount of property involved totals some forty thousand dollars and unless the decision of the county court is reversed the property will be divided among the heirs of the deceased in accordance of the laws of Wisconsin.

The appeal from the decision is not unexpected. Pullen having professed a desire to fight the case to a finish. The case has attracted considerable attention in the northwest part of the county and interest is now centered; on the outcome when it is brought before Judge Grimm and a jury.

EXCEPTIONAL MEN IN HEAVYWEIGHT CLASS

[ST INTERNATIONAL NEWS.]

New York, March 23.—There is a letter class of heavyweights now belove the fans' gaze than at any time since Jim Jeffries was champion.

At no time since Jeffries dropped of or sight through the application of one of Jack Johnson's uppercuts has there been such an effective crop with the works. The run of Carl Monses and such has been dropped a perfud of exceptional men seems to for on.

Fred Fulton was the first exceptional main to appear in the heavy-mont class since Luther McCarty his life in a bout with Arthurkhey. And just as Fulton's startached a crest of fame, along came care Dempsey, a party who still is to king up there as one of the best. The crop of heavyweights who blostened out with the appearance of arl Morris is gradually receding. They are now known as second-taters, at white hopes. Their ability now less in assimilation of punishment from the rising youngsters who seem their to dominate the big class of met for some time.

inely to dominate the big class of their for some time.

An uplift of the game through heavyweight channels is the thing for which puglitism has been suffering for a long time. Little fellows can first, do their best just as long as they can, but the real life of boxing is in the heavyweights. If they fail is produce good bouts at every stage is in the heavyweights. If they fail is produce good bouts at every stage is in the heavyweights. If they fail is produce good bouts at every stage is in the heavyweights of them to keep alive interest and to keep the rame clean.

Since John L. Sullivan put life and didiars in the business of righting as a heavyweight there have been few a hampions, but ten years ago there was sufficient keen competition to deep the heavyweights busy and to the pane up. Maybe it will be affect back by the same means.

Avoid Wasting Food—Use Ice

NOW is the time to put the refrigerator on guard to see that no food goes to waste. You cannot depend on winter would waste. You cannot depend on winter weather any longer. Warmer days are sure to come and the refrigerator must be ready to preserve the perishable foods. See that you keep a definite amount of ice in your box each day.

Serving the City With Ice

It takes scientific strategy to keep a city supplied with ice during the hot weather. But we have had many years of experience and guarantee that everyone who orders ice shall have it when they need it.

To defend you from the attacks of hot weather, which will soon be here, and to help preserve your food supply is our special duty. For years and years we've been campaigning against the heat. It's our business to keep you comfortable.

This year weh ave every modern weapon and them ost strategic methods of attack. Among these are:

> Sufficient equipment to take care of the demands of the public at any and all times.

A corps of trained and courteous ice men.

A large supply of ice-all our houses are filled and there will be no shortage.

Our prices are based on a reasonable profit for ourselves and are very fair-lower than most companies charge for ice.

Trust us, as experienced campaigners, to safeguard your comfort. We will always have plenty of ice.

Co-Operate for Ice Service

In the army it's co-operation that brings victory. While men are learning co-operation in the field, practice co-operation at home.

To obtain genuine ice service and the victory over the hot days that are to come, just co-operate with the ice man a little.

- 1. Hang up your ice card early in plain sight.
- 2. Hang your card so it tells just how much ice you need.
- 3. Remove bottles, etc., from the ice chamber so it is ready for the ice man.
- 4. Get all the ice you need when the wagon calls.

By co-operating in these little ways everyone can have ice sooner during the hot weather.

At the present time, until the warmer weather arrives, our wagons will be in the residence districts on Monday, Wednesday and Saturday mornings of each week. Please make it convenient to get your ice at that time.

Special Notice:

To all persons holding unused coupons of the Consumer's Ice and Fuel Com-

Coupons which have been paid for may be redeemed through us by presenting same at our office in the People's Drug Store, corner Main and Milwaukee Sts.

As soon as the hot weather arrives there will be a great rush and demand for ice. Please arrange now to place your order to start taking ice the first hot days.

BUSINESS OFFICE OPEN SATURDAY EVENING.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT. The war has brought to the South an era of prosperity, such as it has never known before. Not in the way of munition plants the nicest kind of people to be with, and the freedom from worry or war industries, because they are not located in this part of the and anxiety is always an inspiration. Florida is all right, but so country, but in products of the soil and a few specialties, for which is Wisconsin. the South is noted.

The average cotton crop is around fifteen million bales, of five hundred pounds each. It will be remembered that four or five years ago the slogan was "buy a bale of cotton," to save the South from bankruptcy. The price was five cents a pound, and many people invested. The average price for many years has been from ten to twelve cents, but today the market is stiff at thirty-two cents, a price unknown before, representing an income of nearly two and a half billion dollars.

This great block of money is fairly evenly distributed. It means wealth to the landlord of the big plantations, and comfort to an army of negroes who grow the crop on shares. The Ford car has taken the place of the mule and rope harness, for the tune darkey is a good spender, and easy money means luxuries. He is rolling in wealth today beyond his fondest dreams. This does not prevent his being patriotic, and a small army of his race is at the Front, and in training. He may not know enough to vote, but he manner than the is good enough to carry a gun, and the South is glad to have him

Florida is not a cotton state. In fact, no cotton is planted here at all, but it is a great producer of fruit and vegetables, and the crop this year is very abundant. The pincapple district, over on the southeast coast, shipped one thousand carloads of pineapples last year, but the face frost killed the trees, which means a serious loss, as it requires time to produce pines.

Other fruit and vegetables, however, are very plentiful, and prices were never better. A local buyer said yesterday that he had just bought the fruit in a small orange grove at four dollars a box, on the trees-the highest price he ever paid. This means that Florida oranges will soon be a luxury in the northern market. The grape-fruit crop is very abundant, and prices have not advanced. The taste for grape-fruit is often a cultivated taste, and the demand is not so great as for oranges.

There is nothing which seems quite so much like summer, to a native of the frigid zone, as a nice dish of strawberries in March, but this choice fruit has been served on the tables down here for the past six weeks. Lakeland, forty miles east of Tampa, is the strawberry district of the state, and hundreds of carloads have been shipped this season. Plant City, one of the distributing centers, has been crating from thirty to thirty-five thousand quarts a day for the past ten days.

The northern farmer has made a mistake in holding his potatoes, for Florida has thousands of acres of potatoes which will be ready to market by the first of May, and the last year's crop will suffer in consequence. Cabbage, lettuce, peppers and celery are now being shipped in carloads every day. The yield is abundant and the quality choice.

It is a pleasure to go through an orange grove loaded with yellow fruit, and buds and blossoms so full of promise for the next crop. A buyer said yesterday that he still had eighty groves to pick, which means a lot of money, at the present high prices. It is pathetic, however, to drive through this country and note the deserted houses and the little patches of land, where some discouraged owner has struggled in vain for a foothold. The northern man, who succeeds in this land of sunshine, is the man who buys in bearing, or the land after it has been redeemed and subdued, and there is plenty of this kind of property for sale.

There is no such thing as a diversity of farming in Florida. The man who has an orange grove, has nothing else. Seldom a garden patch to supply his own table. This is true of all kinds of vegetables. If he grows celery or tomatoes, he depends on conned goods for everything else, and when his crop fails, he deends on grits and sait pork to pull him through the season, but he has the climate to console him, and the old priest at Tampa says, "The climate is worth a thousand dollars a foot." There are a lot of natives down here living on the climate and the tourists, and the open season for tourists closes the first of April, which means a long summer of rest and inactivity.

One of the staple industries of southwest Florida is the phosphate industry, and one of the oldest companies is the Peace River Phosphate company, whose headquarters were at the little town of Cleveland, thirty years ago. When the nearby beds were exhausted, the plant was moved eight miles up the stream, and for a number of years the product of bone-representing all kinds of animal life in the sea—was towed in barges to tidewater at Baca Grand, thirty miles away, and from there shipped to Germany, where it was ground and treated with acids, then sacked and returned to this country to be used as barn fertilizer.

The bone phosphate beds have practically been exhausted, but the rock phosphate, like the Pensacola product, is also found in this territory. It comes in layers from eight to ten feet below the surface and is taken out by dredges, leaving hundreds of acres of artificial lakes. The company built its own railroad to Baca Grand, and practically built and owns that little city today, which is one of the beauty spots of the west coast. The industry has also made a number of millionaires, who are spending their money freely in the state.

St. Petersburg, which accommodates some twenty-five thousand tourists every winter, is recognized as the Palm Beach of the west coast, but St. Petersburg is a wide awake, enterprising city, with a live Board of Trade, while Palm Beach is only noted for its beauty, and the largest hotel in the world, with no rival as a money-grabber. The only rival of Palm Beach on the west coast, is Belaire, twenty miles from Tampa, and on the coast. The big hotel and spucious grounds with two eighteen hole golf courses, has been crowded with some eight hundred guests all winter, a rival of Pinehurst, so far as golf is concerned, and a good place to Fifteen miles down the coast from Belaire is Tarpon Springs, noted for its sponge industry, claimed to be the greatest in the world. It is a little Greek city, for the Greek diver is as famous as the Cuban eigarmaker. The water front is a basin, covering some ten acres, with a cement wall around it, fed by tide water, which flows in through a deep, narrow channel from the gulf. This basin is the harbor where all kinds of quaint Greek watercraft lay at anchor after discharging their cargoes at the big ware-

These vessels start out with a crew of half a dozen men, and are frequently gone for three months, never returning without a cargo. The sponge clings to the reef in from fifty to one hundred feet of water, and the diver cuts it loose and brings it to the surface. The sponge beds are renewed every year by clipping off what is known as the ears, and attaching a piece of cement, to hold It down, and then planted by the divers in the crevices of the reef. That beats raising potatoes and onions on Bunker Hill, for there is no danger of drouth and bugs never annoy.

If you ever visit Tarpon Springs, brush up on your Greek, or take along an interpreter. The restaurants are all Greek and the dishes served are in the same language, while the natives talk with their hands and faces as much as they do with their mouth.

Take it "by and large" Florida is a wonderful state, yet the tourist turns his face homeward with a feeling that a snow storm would be a luxury, and a bracing north wind at least invigorating. Instead of weighing twenty pounds, it weighed twenty-eight pounds. It has grown, Yours truly, "Francis Brown." procession that he feels lonesome, and if he stays by the climate long enough, most any kind of a bottle would hold his ambition. You never have to tell the people to relax and give their nerves a rest, for they are relaxed all the time.

They express this peaceful attitude in their walk and in their talk. They are never surprised at anything. If a fleet of airships should sail over some morning, from the airplane field, twenty-five miles away, they might say, "Well, I declare!" in that soft Southern accent, so pleasant to hear, but that would be all. Yet they are

WILL BE ARRAIGNED ON ASSAULT CHARGE

Warrant for the Arrest of Henry Quirk Has Been Issued.—Result of Attack on Motorman.

As the result of the alleged attack on John Zastoupil, motorman on the Janesville traction company, its evening a warrant for the arrest of Harry Quirk has been issued and he will be brought before Judge Maxfield in the municipal court on Monday morning on the charge of assault with intent to do bodily harm. The affair took place at the corner of Western avenue and Franklin street after Quirk, in company with several others, pulled the trolley from the wire. When Zastoupil came out of the car to fix the trolley he was attacked and his face badly bruised.

William H. Doughtery, attorney for the traction company, in a statement this morning, said that he was determined to put an end to such actions on the part of the "gang" which has on several occasions caused the motormen some trouble. Other arrests will follow, he says. It has been the habit of gangsters to throw stones at the cars in addition to pulling the trolley from the wire.

Ward was ot thrown from the car was not damaged. The injured man was taken to the hospital where he was given attention. This morning he was given attention. This morning he was restling easily and was able to leave for his home on Sharon street with an attack of scarlet fover receivations the habit of gangsters to throw stones at the cars in addition to pulling the trolley from the wire.

County Executive Committee Passed Resolution at Meeting Held Yesterday-Still Checking Payments.

A resolution giving those people who have not paid their share and who are able to pay their assessments to the county war fund being solicited. to the county war fund being solicited in Rock county, one more chance to do their duty, was passed at a meeting of the executive committee held yesterday afternoon. After looking over the lists of non-payers which had been compiled it was decided that it was no more than fair that those people should be given another opportunity before the list of slackers is arranged.

The committee further agreed that as soon as the campaign is over, a list will be compiled of those who have not paid, and after each name, the reason for the failure to pay will be placed. These cards will be placed in conspicuous places about the city, so that the loyal people of the county will have an opportunity of seeing who the people are who are not in harmony with the government in the successful conduct of the war. The payments made so far are being checked up by Treasurer, Roy Wisner, but no definite figures are yet obtainable. A telephone call from the captain of the team in the town of Clinton, however, shows that over six thousand dollars was subscribed by the people there. In Janeaville, it is expected that the total sum will reach about torty thousand dollars, when the final returns are secured.

In checking over the accounts, it has been found that many mortgages have escaped assessments, and during the next few days, the workers will make an effort to visit the people helding these mortgages, and ask them for their share on them.

OF WAR ACTIVITY CITIZENS ANXIOUS FOR ONE FAMILY OVER RISE OF WATER

The following record of patriotic service was presented recently by Edward Moore, a scholar at the Jefferson school, which will be read with Rock River Continues to Rise and More Basements Are Flooded-Several Down Town Office Buildings Without Heat.

A Patriotic Family. Buildings Without Heat.

Rock river continues to rise and citizens of Janesville are continuing to speculate as to just how high it will go and whether it will rise high enough to cause any great damage. The water rose about a half inch above the dam during the night and an inch below the dam, and it is still vicing.

son school, which will be read with interest:

A Patriotic Family.

The teachers in this building read about my father having so many relatives in the service and thought the children would be interested in hearing about them, so my father wrote this account:

There are three of my brothers and eight of Eddie's uncles on his mother's side who are in the fighting line. The first three are in the United States army. One is in the Aviation Corps in training in Texas. Another, joined the engineers and is in camp in South Carolina. The other, who enlisted in the British army, had the misfortune to injure his hand while practicing trench digging in the north of England. Blood poison developed and he has been in the hospital since January, 1916, and fears he has lost the use of one arm as a result. He is now in an American hospital in England. Of my wife's brothers, one was in the war with the British army right from the beginning—one of the "contemptible little army," as the Germans termed them. One of the divisions of 12,000 men had 19,000 losses in a few weeks and saw some of the flercest fighting in the early part of the war. He was wounded time times and was then invalided out of the army suffering from trench shock and neuritis. Another, who was also in the early part of the war. an inch below the dam, and it is sun rising.

Reports have been received from Watertown that the river has gone down nearly an inch since yesterday, but Fort Atkinson claims that the water is still rising. However, it is not expected that the height will become such as to cause any great alarm to the people of this city. More basements are being flooded but the damage reported in each case is very small as the merchants have anticlpated the rise. The water has reached the Wisch barber shop in the Hayes block and the employes are walking around on large plank. Several of the down town office buildings and stores are without heat as a result of the high water, and small oil heaters have been installed in several of the places, including the Morchants' and Savings bank. The water in the vicinity of Nowville has completely covered the roads to a height of three feet.

Officials of the Janesville Electric company have asked the people to conserve on their power as much as possible during this emergency. The company has purchased a large new boiler to be used in such cases as the present one, but owing to the congested condition of the railroads it is thought that the boiler, won't reach Janesville before May or June. rising.
Reports have been received from shock and neuritis. Another, who was also in the early part of the war shock and neuritis. Another, who was also in the early part of the war in France, was severely "gassed" during an attack in the trenches and he was invalided out.

The other was in the Dardanelles and was wounded in the shoulder. He was rescued after lying in a shell hole all night in a bitter cold rain and sleet. When he recovered enough to travel he embarked in a transport for England, where he was taken to a hospital. When he fully recovered he was sent out to France where he was twice more wounded and is still in the thick of it helping to "do his bit." Of the others, one poor fellow full fighting in the battle of Mons, another has been invalided out through a wound.

All have been wounded once or twice except one, who has seen active service in France. Egypt and in the Mediterranean. So far as we know he has come through without a scratch.

I think this is a pretty good record for one key's uncles and I am sure Eddie ought to be proud that he has so many belonging to him who are doing so much to uphold the honor and treedom of the countries in which they live. Good luck to them and to all the boys, both on this side and over the water, who are fighting in the interests of justice and humanity. May the two countries ever be united against all oppression of might against right. CLOTHES AND MONEY

Police authorities in all neighboring cities have been notified by Sheriff Whipple to be on the lookout for a man by the name of Richard Fleming who yesterday afternoon made his get-away with a team of horses, ciothing, and sixty dollars in cash, belonging to Ed Mathews, a Johnstown fermer. Fleming had been working for Mathews on his farm for some time. Yesterday afternoon while his employer was at a neighboring farm sawing wood, Fleming decided that he would take matters into his own hands.

SUNDAY 10:45 A.M.

The sermon aims to give your bewilderment a simple answer based upon both science and religion.
"WHY IS THE WHOLE WORLD AT WAR?"
"WHAT IS GOD SAVING TO AMERICA?"

March 31, 3rd Sermon "A Distracted World Awaiting a Resurrected Church." You are invited.

changes from the rough cowboy to the dainty and feminine widow were really remarkable bits of delineation. The manager of the theater had the good fortune to lunch with Eltinge last week in Chicago and found him a splendid, likeable chap, not at, all effeminate in his ways.

On Sunday Harold Lockwood gave a vigorous study of a New York good fellow suddenly transported to a rough timber camp in the great northwest, in a play entitled "Broadway Bill." The snow scenes, especially one of a driving bilizard, were remarkably well taken, and a small boy helped to creat diversion.

Somothing a little different from the ordinary pictures of W. S. Hart were seen in "Wolves of the Rail." In this, Hart reforms his ways, and from boing a bad men and outlaw devotes his energies to running down and exterminating this class of citizens. A flight after a locomotive and leap from his horse into the cab, and a sensational fight in a railroad yards were interesting features. A return date of Vivian Martin in a "Fair Barbarian" was given on Thursday. The writer liked this play so well that she went twice to see it on its first appearance here and again on Thursday.

In "The Greil Mystery," given last pearance here and again on Thursday.

In "The Grell Mystery," given last wock at the Majestic, Earle Williams has the difficult part of a detective who scores evidence which seems to convict the girl he loves of a crime. It was a thrilling story of cross purposes, and the value of finger prints in convicting a criminal.

A pleturesque southern character was created by Walt Whitman in "The Tar Hee! Warrior." It is a pathetic story of the way a fine old gentleman of the south was tempted to a theft to save from sale the home of his ancestors. Some unique types of negro servants and a fine old southern home were features of interest.

A large andience of kiddles saw Marguerite Clark in a matinee play of "Show White" on Wednesday. The old witch, the helpful bird and the seven dwarfs were all admired and applauded vigorously by the young-sters.

Harry Morey gave a vigorous de-lineation of an American gentleman caught in Belgium at the outbreak of caught in Belgium at the outbreak of the war, who has the altrnative presented to him of being shot or of undertaking a mission for the German general into England, in a play called "Who Goes There." He is commissioned to bring a young lady back to Germany who is supposed to be the daughter of the general. He finds out that she is a Swiss spy and has information for the Germans. Although he has come to love her, he takes her papers from her by force, and has to fight the German general offers they are done.

though he has come to love her, he takes her papers from her by force, and has to fight the German general sfore they are done.

The Apollo had in the picture of "The Warrior" a wonderful screen spectacle which has an abundance of magnificent scenery. The hero ties three Austrians together and carries them across mountains as easily as one might carry a suitcase. He picks up one man and uses him for a club, knocking another man from a horse. He carries a machine gun over high mountain peaks, leads an attack which wipes out an Austrian regiment, and other during feets. The scenes are of the Italian Alps, and shows how the dauntless Italians scale the mountains on ropes and cross chasms hand over hand. There was enough of a plot to hold the play together.

"The Naulahka" was a splendid picture abounding in fine scenery and the Indian setting was artistically beautiful. The story had to do with the efforts of a young mining engineer to speure a jewel called the "naulahka" for the wife of a railroad president. The jewel is worn by Doraldina, a dancing girl and a favorite of a rajah of Indian. The fiance of the young engineer is also on the spot as a physician in a women's hospital. After thrilling scenes, when a young prince is rescued from death by the young doctor, and her hospital burned, the couple give up the quest and go back to the mining town in the west. Then they find that the railroad which was the price demanded for the "naulahka" has already been contracted for and the town is saved. Antonio Moreno is the attractive young engineer and Helene Chadwick the young physiciam.

The weekly letter showed the presentation of an ambulance by the city of San Francisco to the Red Cross. King Alphonso of Spaln reviewing his army, and various scenes of army life, including the funeral of Vernon Castle.

winday, April 8, that receasely applied to the new program features a remarkable tour of China, revealing secret corners of the Celestial Empire never before filmed. This includes a visit to Pekin's Forbidden City. A trip through the Alaskan wilds is a picturesque and interesting feature. Unusually entertaining and amusing is an excursion to Coney Island, including the various bizarre devices of the country's playground. "Roping a Mountain Lion" provides a real thrill, and of absorbing interest is a series of views of Uncle Sam's new army caterpillar tractors in action.

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

No woman can afford to be indifferent to the appearance of her hair. A mass of nice snappy hair, becomingly dressed, will add more in genuine looks than a pretty face, or an expensive gown. Don't allow the scalp to become clogged with dirt and dandruff. Don't allow dandruft to destroy your hair. If your hair is uneven, dead, dull and brittle and comes out by the handful every time you draw a comb through it, dandruff is the cause. To rid your scalp of the dandruff and check the loss of hair should be your first anxiety. NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE will do this and at the same time put the this and at the same time put the hair and scalp in a sanitary condition. HERPICIDE appeals to those of HERPICIDE appeals to those of greatest refinement on account of its exquisite odor, its purity and cleanliness. It contains no grease and does not stain or dye. There is nothing more dependable than this remarkable scalp prophylactic. The hair responds readily to a regular and intelligent use of NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE.

"Then you're leaving your nephew and niece doesn't mean that you've given up the guardianship?"

Captain Elisha's jaw set squarely. "I don't remember sayin' that it did," he answered, with decision. Then, his good nature returning, he added: "Well, Ilm, there's just one thing more. Have I disgraced you a good deal bein' around with you and chummin in with I'll give you the answer, if it's worth you the way I have? That is, do you giving at all, in a very short time. you the way I have? That is, do you think I've disgraced you? Are you ashamed of me?"

But since I've lived here in New York I've learned that, with a whole lot of folks, hats themselves count more than what's underneath 'em. I haven't changed mine, and I ain't goin' to. Now, with that plain and understood do you want me to live here in the same house with you? I ain't fishin' for compliments. I want an honest

"Hi!" he called. "Hi, Mrs. Hepton." The landlady had been anxiously waiting. She ran from the dining room to the foot of the stairs. "Yes?" she cried. "What is it?" "It's a bargain," said the captain. "I'm rendy to engage passage."

CHAPTER XIII.

A Rock or a Lighthouse.

HUS Captain Elisha entered another of New York's "circles," that which centered at Mrs. Hepton's boarding house. Within a week with Pearson, and when the landlady

The captain paid frequent visits to the offices of Sylvester, Kubn & Graves about this stateroom bein vacated, and ner, whom he esteemed and trusted not only as a business adviser but a friend, he depended for information concerning happenings at the Warren apart-

Caroline sent him regular statements of her weekly expenditures, also bills for his approval, but she had written him but once, and then only a brief note. The note brought by a messenger accompanied a package containing the chain which he and Pearson selected with such deliberation and care at the Fifth avenue jeweler's. Under the existing circumstances, the girl wrote, she felt that she did not wish to accept presents from him and therefore returned this one.

After Pearson had departed one morning Captain Elisha put on his hat and cont and started for his lawyer's office. Sylvester was glad to see him and invited him to lunch.

"No, thank you," replied the captain. "I just run down to ask if there was anything new in the offin'. Last time I see you, you binted you and your mates had sighted somethin' or other through the fog, and it might turn out to be a rock or a lighthouse, you couldn't tell which. Made up your mind yet?"

Sylvester shook his head. "No," he said slowly, "it is still foggy. We're busy investigating, but we're not ready to report." "Humph! Well, what's the thing look like? You must be a little nigher to it by now." The lawyer tapped his desk with a pencil. "I don't know what it looks like," he answered. "That is to say, I don't-I can't believe it is what it appears at this distance to be. If it is it is the most"-He paused. Captain Elisha waited for him to go on and when he did so asked another question.

"The most what?" he demanded. "Is it likely to be very bad? Ain't discovered any more of those Cut Short bonds, have you?"

The bonds to which he referred were those of a defunct Short Line railroad. A large number of these bonds had heen discovered among A. Rodgers Warren's effects. Part of his "tangled assets," the captain had termed them. differentiating from the "tangible" va-

"Abbie, my housekeeper, has been writin me," he went on, "about havin' out of the common, but not too expensive. I judge what she wants is somethin' that looks like money but ain't really worth more than 10 cents a mile. I've been thinkin' I'd send her a bale or so of those bonds. They'd fill the bill in those respects, wouldn't they?"

Sylvester laughea. "They certainly would, captain," he replied. "No, we haven't unearthed any more of that sort. And, as for this mystery of ours, Meanwhile you go home and forget lt.

"Well, I'll try. But I guess it sticks out on my face like a four days' toothache. But I won't worry about that. You know best whether to tell me now or not, and-well, I'm carryin' about don't. And I do try not to. But I keep thinkin' and wonderin' if 'twould have been better if I hadn't gone there to live at all. Hi hum! A man of my age hadn't ought to mind what a twenty-year-old girl says or does, 'specially when her kind, advisin' friends have shown her how she's been deceived and hypocritted. By the way, speakin' of hypocrites, I suppose there's just as much 'Dunnin' ' as ever goin did think I had her guns spiked, but she turned 'em on me unexpected. I thought I had her and her boy in a clove hitch. I knew somethin' that I was sartin sure they wouldn't want Caroline to know, and she and Malcolm knew I knew it. Her tellin' Caroline of it, her story of it, when I wasn't there to contradict, was as smart a piece of maneuverin' as ever was. It took the wind out of my sails, because, though I'm just as right as I ever was, Caroline wouldn't listen to me nor believe me now." "She'll learn by experience."

"I don't mind so much Caroline's bein' down on me," resumed the captain. "She'll know better some day, 1 hope, and if she don't-well, I'm only a side issue in her life, anyhow, hove in by accident, like the section of dog orth collar in the sussage. But I do hope no her learnin' by experience won't come too late to save her from what she'll be awful sorry for by and by."

"It must," declared the lawyer, with decision. "You must see to it, Cap-tain Warren. You are her guardian. She is obsolutely under rour charge.

"Oh, I don't-that is, I pretend I | She can do nothing of importance unless you consent."

"Yup; that's so, for one more year; just one, remember. Then she'll be of age, and I can't say 'Boo!' And her share of Bije's money'll be hers too. And don't you believe that that fact has slipped Sister Dunn's memory. I nin't on deck to head her off now. she puts Malcolm up to gettin' Caroline to give her word and Caroline gives it-well, I know my niece. She's honorable, and she'll stick to her promise if it runs her on the rocks. And her majesty Dunn knows that too. Therefore, the cut bein' away, she cal'lates now's the time to make sure of the something—girls are not so very mere after all."

It was during a more or less secret conference in Washington early last spring, just before war was declared. Many prominent men were present, both from the north and from the south. The newspapers naturally were anxious to get opinions first hand from the members of the different committees, but found it a hard job.

One reporter finally fairly cornered a courteous southerner—en elderly man of the "old school."

"Mr. Blank," said the reporter persuasively, "I would like to have your opinion of the var."

"Well, sah." said Mr. Blank very conteously, "I haven't thought of it much lately, but I've always been of the opinion, sah, that we should not have surrendered. Good evening.
